A smashing late summer day for our first trial of the season.

I admit to being a little apprehensive over how things would go so I was pleased with how everyone adapted to the conditions imposed on us - so thanks all!

The group riding was approved of by most of us, some hoping it might become the norm. The shortage of observers did slow things down a little until we had public spirited retirees helping out later on.

Some may have liked it tougher, others less so, so that's about right I reckon!
